The instructors will determine the proper level of classes. Dancers will be placed according to the level of technique that they demonstrate in the various disciplines. Students learn and progress at different rates, and this is further affected by class attendance-i.e. poor class attendance (less than 80%) means that the student has missed out on vital technical instruction. In addition, the effort put forth by students is a tremendous factor. Teaching methods and standards vary greatly from school to school. For reasons such as these, the number of years a student has danced is NOT the deciding factor. Our staff places each student in the classes which ensure their optimal growth.
